NEW HAVEN MEN LOSE IN FIGHT TO IMMIT EVIDENCE

Court Overrules Motion Against
Introduction of Acts of Directors Prior to 1912.

MELLEN IS IN COURT

Government Plans to Build Up
Story of Alleged Manipulation
Upon His Testimony.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Attorneys for the defense in the trial of the 11 directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, under the Sherman anti-trust law, lost a legal battle at the outset of the introduction of the Government's first testimony in the case today. They set up the statute of limitations against the consideration of evidence having to do with acts committed prior to 1912, until acts committed within the subsequent three years prior were first placed before the jury. Judge Hunt, after the attorneys had fought for more than an hour to persuade him of the merits of their contentions, ruled against them. He held that the Government was entitled to present the prima facie evidence that a conspiracy existed from the beginning, and that if such was proved to the satisfaction of the jurors, they should then judge the guilt of the defendants from the time they entered the conspiracy in so far as their acts led up to the three-year period.

Mellen is in Court to Testify.
Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven, awaiting to be called as a witness for the Government, had an interested listener. Mellen had a seat near several of the defendants against whom he is to testify, and by whom he was greeted with every evidence of cordiality when he entered the court room.

Documentary evidence was being introduced when the morning session adjourned. Mellen took the stand at 2:30 p. m. The Government had more than 200 exhibits which it desired to have marked in evidence.

According to the present plans, Mellen will take the stand twice. He will be questioned about the affairs of the road during his first period of employment prior to going to Europe, and then after he became president in 1903 will be told later, unless Judge Hunt rules that Mellen must tell his whole story at once.

MAYOR NOT TO URGE BOND ISSUE FOR RIVER DES PERES

Poll of 150 Organizations Shows Opposition to a Large Expenditure

Mayor Kiel has decided not to recommend a special election for the submission of a general bond issue for the improvement of River des Peres and expansion of eleemosynary institutions. A poll of 150 civic organizations represented in the Mayor's conference, although incomplete, has convinced the Mayor that there is not enough public sentiment for any of the bond issues suggested to insure a two-thirds majority as required by law. The poll was to have been completed today, but a subcommittee of the conference will continue to tabulate the votes of civic organizations for another month.

The opposition and indifference to the bond issue is explained usually on the ground of hard times due to the war, and the fact that St. Louis would be paying the entire cost of the River des Peres improvement when it would be of benefit largely to St. Louis County. Mayor Kiel will not summon another meeting of his conference until the poll is completed.

The proposed bond issue for River des Peres improvement was for $4,000,000. An issue of $2,000,000 for park and playground extension was proposed and numerous bond items of less than $400,000 for a new, tuberculosis hospital, farm for infirmities, etc., brought the total to $7,000,000. The city now enjoys a margin of about $1,500,000 before it would reach its constitutional limit of indebtedness. It was the intention to recommend the submission of those bond items which received the most support, and eliminate those that appeared weakest, to keep the total issue within $4,500,000.

POPE INTERCEDES WITH KAISER FOR LIVES OF NOTED PRISONERS

German Emperor Suspends Execution of Baron, Countess and Eight Others

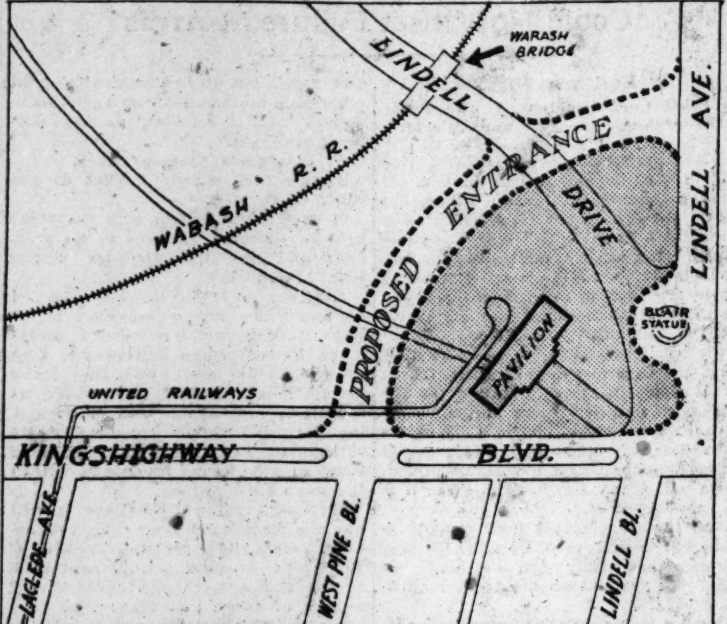

ROME, Oct. 20.—Pope Benedict, at the request of the British and Belgian legations, has interceded with Emperor William on behalf of Baron de Hemphill, Mile Thullier and seven French persons who have been condemned by the German court to be shot.

Cardinal Hatzmann, Archbishop of Cologne, has informed the Pontiff that Emperor William has suspended the execution of the sentences against the prisoners in order that they may make a more detailed examination into their cases.

More Aliens Depart Than Arrive

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—More aliens departed from the United States in August than arrived, the number being greater than in any month except last December, since the European war began. Emigrant and non-emigrant aliens to a total of 4,737 departed, while 25,423 arrived.

"BOOTS" BRENNAN ON $6000 BONDS COURT FORFEITS

Bonds for $6000, signed by William Brennan, a Democratic politician, better known among his friends as "Boots" Brennan, for two women charged with being pickpockets, were declared forfeited by Circuit Judge Cave yesterday when the women, Allie Lewis and Adele Thomas, failed to appear for trial. Records of the Assessor's office show Brennan is the owner of a four-foot "politician" car on Pleasant street, valued at $40. There is no record that he pays taxes on any personal property.

The bonds for the women were accepted by Judge Clark of the Court of Criminal Correction, although the records of officers of the clerks of the criminal courts show that Brennan never has qualified as a legal signer of bonds.

The women were arrested July 10 on a charge of robbing women's handbags in department stores. There were three charges against each and the bond in each case was fixed at $1000. Brennan signed all the bonds.

When the cases were called yesterday A. M. Frumberg, an attorney, said that one of the women was sick in Kansas City, but that he had expected the other to be in court. He promised to have them in court Friday, but Judge Cave declared the bonds forfeited.

Judge Clark said this morning, when asked about the matter by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that he thought Brennan had qualified as a bondsman.

"I think I qualified him two or three years ago," the judge said. "Anyway 'Boots' is good. He's worth $30,000 or $40,000. That pile factory he has in South St. Louis is worth a lot of money. He can pay any bond."

An examination of the records of the Assessor's office do not reveal Brennan to be qualified to sign a bond for $6000. The lot on Pleasant street, which is assessed in his name, has a frontage of four feet and a depth of 161 feet.

DR. HELPER NOW EXPECTED TO RECOVER FROM ANTHRAX

Beaumont City Patient Gains Strength, Takes Walk for First Time in Three Weeks.

Dr. John C. Helper, 66 years old, of Beaumont City, Ill., who, for two weeks, faced death from an attack of the dreaded disease anthrax, presumably communicated by a mosquito, has passed the critical stage and in the past week has regained strength so rapidly that his physician, Dr. J. T. Kessinger, of Alton, predicted today that he would recover in about three months if no complications set in.

Dr. Helper yesterday took a little walk, the first time since he became infected with the disease three weeks ago. The flesh on the back of his neck, which has ceased dying, and Dr. Kessinger says the cavity caused by the removal of dead tissue there will eventually fill.

GERMANS CAPTURE HARVARD MAN, AVIATOR FOR FRENCH

Norman Prince, Who Abandoned Law to Enter War, Taken Near Champagne.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Norman Prince, Harvard graduate and a member of a prominent Boston family, who was an aviator with the French army, has been captured by the Germans, according to a cablegram received today by his father, Frederick H. Prince.

The young man was taken prisoner during a reconnoiter in the Champagne sector of the western battle line, the dispatch says. He abandoned a law practice in Chicago last January to volunteer his services with the allies.

BANQUET SPEECHES BY CODE

Each Guest Has Telegraph Key at Dinner to Editor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—Thomas A. Edison was the guest last night at a banquet given by 400 San Francisco telegraph operators. It was a "speechless" function, the address by the toastmaster and the responses by Edison being made on telegraph instruments.

Keys and sounders were installed for each guest, the menu was printed in the Morse code and the after-dinner oratory was all tapped out on the keys.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR NEW ENTRANCE TO FOREST PARK

Officials Propose to Eliminate Circular Arrangement at King's Highway and Lindell.

NEW ROADWAY IN PLACE If Will Run in Quarter Circle From West Pine to Lindell Boulevard.

Plans for a new main entrance to Forest Park, at Lindell boulevard and King's highway, have been prepared by Park Department officials, and will be publicly announced within a few days.

Full details of the plan were not obtainable today, as the department officials were not ready to give it out. But it is known that the plan includes two radical changes. The first is the closing of the present roadway which forms the entrance of Grand drive, in the park. In its place a roadway will be run from West Pine boulevard, through the park, ending at Lindell boulevard, several hundred feet west of King's highway, and forming the eastern inlet and outlet of Grand drive. The entrance from the east will be from Lindell, and the outlet to the east will be to West Pine.

Would Remove Pavilion.
The second important detail of the plan is the removal of the Laclede pavilion, now the terminus of the Laclede car line, which has a loop at this point. The new roadway would cut off the tracks, and would require the removal of the loop to a point farther south. With the tracks removed, the pavilion would no longer be required as a station, and it would be in the way of a decorative scheme for the new corner, which will be formed by the closing of the diagonal roadway.

It will be proposed to remove the pavilion to another part of the park, probably the southwest part, to serve as a shelter house for picnic parties.

The reason for the new plan is the traffic congestion which develops on Sundays and on pleasant weekdays. The new roadway would cut off the tracks, and would require the removal of the loop to a point farther south. With the tracks removed, the pavilion would no longer be required as a station, and it would be in the way of a decorative scheme for the new corner, which will be formed by the closing of the diagonal roadway.

GRAND JURY WILL TAKE UP OWEN'S CASE TOMORROW

Question of Criminal Prosecution for Technical Embezzlement to Be Determined.

NOLAND CASE PRECEDENT

State Treasurer Replaced Funds With "I. O. U.'s" Called "Snakes."

The conduct of John B. Owen, as Deputy City Collector in charge of water rates collections, will be investigated by the grand jury, beginning tomorrow, to determine whether he should be prosecuted criminally on charges preferred by Collector Koeln and Counselor Daines. It was said at the Circuit Attorney's office today that these charges, if true, constitute technical embezzlement.

The investigation of Owen's handling of water rates funds is to be made under precedent established by the Missouri Supreme Court in 1910, when David B. Francis was Governor. At that time State Treasurer Noland was sent to prison for the embezzlement of $30,000 of State funds.

"Snakes" Used by Noland.
As State Treasurer he failed to turn this money from State funds, but had placed there, in return, what at that time were called "snakes," corresponding to "I. O. U.'s" of this day. It was then held by the Supreme Court that the mere fact that money is converted to the use of an individual in charge of public funds—no matter whether the official gives "I. O. U.'s" or postdated checks promising repayment—constitutes an embezzlement.

Collector Koeln will be called before the grand jury to repeat, as a witness, statements which he has publicly made as the employer of Owen. In these statements Collector Koeln asserted that Owen drew cash from the till in charge of his cashiers, which were returned by the bank marked "insufficient funds," presented by Collector Koeln for collection.

Owen has not been active in his office for a month, as he was upon an enforced vacation for 35 days while his affairs were being examined and was summarily discharged at the expiration of the furlough.

To Investigate Methods.
The grand jury also contemplates a complete investigation of affairs of both the assessment and the collection divisions of the water rates department, in an effort to learn what remedies should be applied to methods of conducting the business.

Comptroller Player is continuing his investigation to determine whether the records on the meter ledgers in Assessor Burton's office tally with the records on the cash books in the office controlled by former Deputy Collector Owen.

Arthur O. Helsel, member of the last House of Delegates, has produced three canceled checks, which were tendered in payment of the Grand Motor Car Co. The cash books are being gone over to see if these checks are recorded.

Puzzled by Third Check.

Associate Comptroller Gunn is satisfied that the first two checks are proper, but he is puzzled by the third check, for $10.50, dated Feb. 8, 1915, and cleared two days later with the proper indorsement of Owen's office. The only record of any payment due from the motor car company at that time was the fact that the meter was read Feb. 1 and a bill for $12.50 submitted, payable last March.

The meter ledger, 13 Assessor Burton's office, shows a payment of $11.50 on the bill March 27, which was 45 days after the $10.50 check was properly cleared by Owen's office. In the next column is a memorandum that a rebate of $1.25, for prompt payment, was made. The fact that the bill was for $12.50 and the check for $2 less is puzzling the investigators.

Another Confusing Entry.

Another puzzling entry on the meter ledger shows that a bill for $15 to the motor car company, due in September, 1914, was marked paid April 6, 1915. The investigators say it would have been against the city's policy to have collected a September bill in April, especially where the record shows prompt payment of an intervening March bill. Custom, it was said, would have made necessary the payment of the September, 1914, bill before receiving payment on the March, 1915, bill.

Helsel said he had misplaced his water bill receipts, and that he could not find a cancelled check showing a $15 payment last April.

CHAUFFEUR BETS POLICEMAN HE WILL BEAT SPEEDING CASE

Man Arrested on Lindell Boulevard Accused of Going 25 Miles an Hour.

The disposition to be made tomorrow in Police Court in the case of Joseph Heffernan, 20 years old, of 781 Walton avenue, chauffeur for a M. M. Frumberg, 627 Westminster place, charged with speeding, will decide a bet between Frumberg and Motor Cycle Policeman McKenna.

When Heffernan was arrested at Lindell boulevard and Sarah street at 1:30 this morning and taken to the Newstead Avenue Station, Frumberg offered to bet anyone he that he would beat the case. McKenna took him up.

McKenna and Heese, another motor cycle policeman, timed the Frumberg machine from Newstead to Whittier on Lindell boulevard and they will testify that it was going 25 miles an hour.

RIOTS REPORTED IN PETROGRAD

Private Advice Says Trouble Following Closing of Dumas.

BERLIN, Oct. 20, by wireless to dayville.—The Overseas News Agency says: "Private reports from Petrograd say further riots have taken place there. A crowd led by a leader of the Social Democratic party, made a demand for the reopening of the Dumas. Cossacks dispersed the rioters and many were wounded."

Governor's Daughter Wed Today and the Bridegroom

MR. AND MRS. W. J. CORBOY.

7 PLEAD GUILTY IN FORT SMITH, ARK., MOONSHINE CASE

Three Kansas Cityans, One a Distiller, Among Men Accused of Defrauding U. S.

FOR SMITH, Ark., Oct. 20.—Seven men on trial, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government in the manufacture of moonshine whiskey, pleaded guilty in the Federal Court here today. Sentence will be passed tomorrow. The case against Fred Bowles of Fort Smith, the eighth defendant, was nolle prossed. The cases against the defendants went to trial yesterday and their action today was a surprise.

Those entered the guilty pleas today were:

John L. Casper of Kansas City, alleged head of the conspiracy.
George Hartman, Kansas City, an alleged employee of Casper.
Charles Brubaker, Kansas City, also an alleged Casper worker.
J. Henry Brown, Harrison, Ark., formerly a Government gauger.
John Farrabee, Kansas City, alleged to have worked for Casper.
S. L. Williams, Winston Salem, N. C., former revenue agent, who resigned from the Government service to enter business with Casper.
John Coffey, Fort Smith.

Officer of Distilling Company.
The principal defendant is John L. Casper, of Kansas City, an officer of a distilling company and known as the head of the alleged "moonshine" organization. Guy L. Hartman, of Kansas City, former business partner of Casper, forfeited a bond of $20,000 by failure to appear for his preliminary trial after his arrest. James C. Brubaker, also of Kansas City and formerly connected with the distilling company, is under indictment but has not been arrested.

The operations of the alleged conspirators are said by Government officials who have been active in bringing the men to trial, to have covered several states and to have defrauded the Government of millions of dollars. Specifically it is charged that the men illegally operated a distillery in Fort Smith and instead of sending the product to a Government warehouse, shipped it to Kansas City. There, it is charged the containers of the whiskey were fraudulently stamped with old revenue stamps, thus allowing the distillers to evade payment of tax.

Reception and Breakfast.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party, accompanied by the families of the bride and bridegroom, the members of the State Supreme Court and the State officers, proceeded to the executive mansion, where a reception and breakfast occupied the time till 1 o'clock. A wedding breakfast for the members of the families was served at 1 o'clock, and afterward Mr. and Mrs. Corboy departed on their wedding trip.

The Bridegroom is the Son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Corboy of Chicago.

The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father and accompanied by her attendants. As they approached the altar the bridegroom, who had been seated in the front row, appeared from behind the altar and the party formed in a semi-circle about the altar.

The Rev. Father Timothy Hickey, Vice General of the Alton diocese, officiated at the nuptial rites.

The Supreme Court and the State Board of Equalization adjourned their sessions today so that the members could attend the wedding in a body. Any of the State officers and most of the heads of the State government, United States Senators Lewis and Sherman, many members of Congress and at least half of the members of the General Assembly were present. City officials from Chicago and down State attended in large numbers.

Some of the Dardanellians and the Balkans are concerned, a good deal of the pessimism which reigned a week ago has disappeared. It is believed that instead of any idea existing of abandoning the attempt to open the straits and enable to transport them promptly and some of them were making forced marches across Greek territory toward Serbia.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—The one hundredth anniversary of the birth in this city of Richard Henry Dana, author of "Two Years Before the Mast," was celebrated here today. Included in a Dana exhibition at Harvard University is a silver plate presented to Dana by Wendell Phillips and other abolitionists for his defense of Anthony Burns, a fugitive slave.

BULGARS CONTINUE ADVANCE; SERVANS IN GRAVE DANGER

French War Minister and Ambassador Confer in London With War Committee on Balkans.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 20, by wireless to dayville.—Capture by the Bulgarians of 2000 prisoners and 12 cannon in Serbia was announced today by the War Office. The report also states that Bulgarian troops have captured Sultan Tape.

Austrian troops have made a further advance on Shabatz on the Save west of Belgrade. The Servians have been thrown back south of Locca and Bosovac.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Latest reports from the Near East indicate that Serbia is in deadly danger of being overwhelmed by the armies of her neighbors. No less than eight Bulgarian forces have crossed into Serbian territory.

The railroad between Nish and Saloniki has been cut by the Bulgarians, sweeping over the frontier in superior numbers. No news has been received as to the movement of the Anglo-French army, although it is known to have been in action as the arrival of French at Saloniki has been reported.

A committee of the Cabinet, known as the war committee, met yesterday afternoon and was joined by Alexandre Millerand, French Minister of War; Paul Cambon, French Ambassador to Great Britain, and M. Millerand's secretary. The committee sat for an hour and a half in the morning. The committee's work was to consider the circumstances calling for two Cabinet meetings in the same day as well as the conference of the war committee with the French War Minister, but it may be assumed that they had to do with the development of the military situation in the Near East.

An Italian squadron has left for the Near East under sealed orders, said to participate in the blockade of the Bulgarian coast, according to a Brindisi dispatch.

Troops on Rumanian Frontier.

Advices from the Rumanian frontier indicate that the Rumanians are undertaking energetic measures to oppose the land and sea operations of the entente allies in the Balkans. The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. reports that Turkish forces are being concentrated in the region of Dedeagatchi, in Southern Bulgaria, on the Aegean Sea. Large Bulgarian forces, the correspondent states, are being moved toward the Rumanian frontier.

The French and British Ministers at Athens, the dispatch also says, asked the Greek Government to sanction arrangements to provide for Serbian refugees from Greek territory. Premier Zaimis agreed with the stipulation that Serbia guarantee maintenance of the refugees.

The Saloniki correspondent of the Havas Agency of Paris sends the following dispatch, under Tuesday's date: "French troops have received orders not to pass the Bulgarian frontier. Strumitsa has not been occupied by the allies."

The Bulgarians are concentrating troops in haste in Dobruja, supposedly because Rumania appears to be leaning more towards the entente. At the same time, three divisions of Bulgarian troops are being concentrated on the Greek frontier.

"The entire Bulgarian coast on the Aegean Sea has been evacuated by the civilian population and the authorities."

So far as the Dardanellian and the Balkans are concerned, a good deal of the pessimism which reigned a week ago has disappeared. It is believed that instead of any idea existing of abandoning the attempt to open the straits and enable to transport them promptly and some of them were making forced marches across Greek territory toward Serbia.

A dispatch from Athens yesterday, read with great interest here, reported that the Allies were landing such large forces at Saloniki that the railway was unable to transport them promptly and some of them were making forced marches across Greek territory toward Serbia.

Along the eastern front activity is confined to the two tips of the long battle line. The Germans are pressing their offensive in the northern area.

Brick Co., reported to the police that while he was in a cafe at 3106 South Grand avenue last night someone stole his overcoat. He valued the coat at $50 and offers a reward of that amount for the arrest of the thief.

Indigestion Frequently Is Caused by Constipation

Neglect of Important Function May Seriously Impair the Health.

There are many people who believe they suffer from indigestion when their discomfort really is due to a constipated condition. Bloat, with its attendant mental depression, sick headache, the belching of sour stomach gases, etc., are frequently due to inaction of the bowels. Relieve the congestion and the trouble usually disappears. The use of cathartics and purgatives should be avoided, however; these shock the system unnecessarily and, at best, their effect is but temporary. A mild laxative is far preferable. The compound of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores for 50 cents a bottle, is highly recommended. Mr. Benj. Bassin, 360 Madison street, Gary, Ind., thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin a wonderful medicine; for four years he had a severe case of indigestion and constipation before trying Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he is glad to recommend to all who suffer with stomach and bowel trouble.

BENJ. BASSIN

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should be in every home for use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington street, Monticello, N.Y.

COMMENT CAUSED BY LETTER FROM BARKER'S OFFICE

Assistant Attorney-General Rutherford Wrote About "Guessing" at Legislature's Intent.

POLITICIANS INTERESTED

Communication Referred to Cape Girardeau Common Pleas Clerk and Salary Law.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Oct. 20.—The remarkable wording of a letter written in the office of Attorney-General Barker and addressed to Wilson Cramer, a lawyer of Jackson, this county, is causing much comment among politicians.

Cramer wrote to the Attorney-General expressing his view on the law governing the salary of the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of Cape Girardeau County. The last Legislature passed an act placing Circuit Clerks on a salary instead of having them elected. This Prosecuting Attorney received an opinion from the Attorney-General saying that this law did not affect the Court of Common Pleas clerk.

Cramer differed with the Attorney-General on the law and wrote to him. The letter received in reply, which has caused all the comment, reads: "Yours of the 24th inst. received and contents noted and in reply will say that this department has rendered an opinion to the Prosecuting Attorney of your county, contrary to your view of the question. In construing the acts of the last Legislature, it is a question of ascertaining the intention of the Legislature according to certain rules. This department may have guessed wrong, on the legislative intent and the Supreme Court may guess it wrong, too, but its guess will count and others will be for naught held and esteemed."

WOMEN INTERRUPT ANTI-MORMON SPEAKER AT CHURCH MEETING

Former Senator Cannon of Utah Bitterly Criticized After Attack on That Religion.

Frank J. Cannon, former United States Senator from Utah, who this week is delivering a series of lectures in St. Louis against Mormonism, was interrupted several times by professed Mormons yesterday afternoon while making an address in the Union Avenue Christian Church. Cannon told of his early life in the Mormon Church, how he was made an elder when 13 years old, and how he revolted and drew away from the church. He then asked his hearers, mostly women, to vote on the following resolutions:

That a constitutional amendment forbidding polygamy be adopted; that the Postoffice Department be ordered to refuse the use of the mails to the Mormon Church so long as it teaches polygamy; that the President be asked not to appoint any man to political office who pays political allegiance to the Mormon Church.

Several women voted against these resolutions. One of them, who said she was a Miss Mary Andrews of 5803 Suburban way, and Mormon by conversion, criticized Cannon on the floor, saying he had educated his son to be a Mormon missionary. Cannon replied he allowed his son to follow the dictates of his own conscience, but that the son later gave up the Mormon faith.

Cannon spoke at night in the Lafayette Park M. E. Church, and was not interrupted, although a group of women voted against his resolutions and were hissed by the audience.

FEARS HE IS TRAILED AS SPY

Youth Asks for Protection From British, Held for Observation.

A youth of 20, with an English accent, rushed up to a policeman at Union Station at 4:15 o'clock this morning and asked protection from three carloads of secret service agents from England. He said he was Hiram Lewinsohn, an advertising agent of 20 Fitzroy square, Tottenham Court, London, but denied that he was the spy which the English Government suspected him to be.

He was sent to the city hospital for observation. There he gave the name of his father as Hiram Franklin of 28 Cranvian street, London.

BACKACHE KILLS!

Don't make the fatal mistake of neglecting what may seem to be a "minor little backache." There isn't any such thing. It may be the first warning that your kidneys are not working properly, and throwing off the poisons as they should. If this is the case, an after the cause of that backache and do it quickly, or you may find yourself in the grip of an incurable disease.

GOLD MEDAL Backache Capsules will give almost immediate relief from kidney and bladder troubles, which may be the unsuspected cause of general ill health. GOLD MEDAL Backache Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are prepared in correct quantity and convenient form to take, and are positively guaranteed to give prompt relief. Get them at any drug store, or be sure to insist on the GOLD MEDAL brand, and take no substitutes.

MISSOURI UNIVERSITY HEAD GIVEN DEGREE BY LAFAYETTE COLLEGE

Albert Ross Hill Made Doctor of Laws at Inauguration of Dr. John H. MacCracken as President.
EASTON, Pa., Oct. 20.—In the presence of many persons notable in the educational, social and business world, Dr. John Henry MacCracken was today inaugurated the ninth president of Lafayette College.

Besides Dr. MacCracken's inaugural address, Judge Elbert H. Gary of New York also spoke. President MacCracken is a son of Dr. H. M. MacCracken, former chancellor of New York University.

Among honorary degrees conferred were: Doctor of Laws, Winston Churchill, Cornhill, N. H.; author; Elbert Henry Gary, New York City, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation; Albert Ross Hill, Columbia, Mo., president of the University of Missouri; Joseph Ross Stevens, president of Princeton Theological Seminary, and Oswald Garrison Villard, New York City, author and journalist, president of the New York Evening Post.

10 MEXICANS ARE KILLED FOR TEXAS TRAIN ROBBERY

Four Suspects Hanged, Others Shot, After Cars Are Wrecked and Three Americans Killed.

By Associated Press.
BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 20.—Ten Mexicans paid with their lives for alleged complicity in Monday night's wrecking of a St. Louis, Brownsville & Mexico passenger train, on the outskirts of Brownsville, the killing of three Americans and the wounding of four others.

One Mexican killed by posse was an unidentified passenger on the train. He was accused of revealing the hiding place of Dr. E. E. McCain, deputy State health officer here, who took refuge in the washroom. Only bare facts of the killing of other Mexicans were obtainable, as the posse refused to give out details. None of the Mexicans was killed by soldiers.

Four Mexicans were hanged to trees and four others were shot. The most reliable information indicated that these shootings were near the banks of the Rio Grande, where close watch for Mexicans was maintained for 100 miles.

Caught in Long Chase.
United States cavalrymen caught a young Mexican after a seven-mile chase. They obtained nothing from him to connect him with the hold-up and turned him over to civil authorities, after saying they did not want him killed.

Probably 1500 cavalrymen and infantrymen joined in searching for traces of the bandits. Hundreds of civilians, led by scores of deputies, joined in the hunt.

The death of Dr. McCain was the third to result from the wreck. He was shot in the abdomen when the bandits fired at him through the car washroom door. Harry J. Wallis, prominent in Texas politics, was wounded slightly at the same time. The four injured, three by bullet wounds and the fourth by a scalding from the train was wrecked by a removed rail, were said to be recovering.

Civil Officers Powerless.
Civil officers here were in most cases powerless to prevent summary executions of Mexicans, for many of the possees were composed mostly of men who worked independently of civil or military authority. The military authorities, under their instructions, have no power to act, except in cases of actual fighting on the river front. In order to make search or even arrests, except in emergencies, the military authorities have had to call for the aid of civil officers, who alone have the right of search and arrest.

Special Master Recommends Judgment in Suit Over Deal With University Heights Realty Co.
Holding that a breach of trust has been committed by the People's Savings Trust Co., one of the E. G. Lewis enterprises, now in the hands of a receiver, Special Master Walter D. Coles in a report filed in the United States District Court yesterday afternoon, recommended that a judgment of $98,000 be entered against the company in the suit of Henry Biddle and others.

The suit was brought in 1912 and was directed against the trust company, the University Heights Realty and Development Co. and L. B. Tebbette, chairman of the Executive Board of the latter. The trust company in 1909 executed a deed of trust to the trust company as trustee, conveying 73.63 acres in University City to the latter to secure notes to be loaned by the trust company and sold to the public for the purchase of lots on easy terms.

The trust company was to credit to its improvement fund $5 cash on each $25 paid in by the note holders. Coles found, and this obligation was violated, he reported, in that the company did not perform its trust to the note holders as the trust company discounted notes for the trust company and in many instances such discounts were entered as cash credits to the improvement fund.

GIRL GARMENT WORKERS GET 7 CENTS AN HOUR IN CHICAGO

One Testifies That She Makes $3 a Week in Black Season—Five Cents Taken for Drinking Water.
CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Sidney Hillman, national president of the Amalgamated Association of Garment Workers, testifying before the special aldermanic strike committee yesterday, declared that wages received by young women in the garment trade were so low that it was impossible for them to make a living from their work. He also said that there was a continual cutting of wages and that the employees were under the absolute authority of the shop foremen, sometimes in ways tending to immorality.

Four girl witnesses corroborated the testimony of Hillman concerning the treatment of girl employees by foremen. One said that she worked from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m. during busy seasons and that in slack seasons she made only $3 a week. Five cents a week was deducted to pay for drinking water, she said.

Pay envelopes of several large firms were presented as evidence to show that the average wage of the girl garment worker was 7 cents an hour.

Rheumatism Advice

Here is a prescription for rheumatism used all over the U. S. for many years and said to be the surest known remedy: One ounce of tincture of compound and one ounce of tincture of Sassafras. Put these two in a glass bottle. Before each meal use a tablespoonful before each meal and before going to bed. So it is better to mix at home. Get ingredients at any drug store. Genuine Tincture comes in sealed yellow packages put up by Globe Pharmaceutical, Dayton, Ohio.

Corns and Callouses

Don't endure foot agony. Here is the quickest and surest remedy known: Two tablespoonfuls of Calocid compound in warm foot bath. This gives instant relief. Corns and callouses can be removed by simply soaking them in Calocid through the pores, removing the cause. Large box of Calocid, twenty-five cents at any drug or general store. Prepared at Medical Formula laboratories, Dayton, Ohio.

MISSOURI STATE NURSES' CONVENTION IN SESSION HERE

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Take this in liquid or tablet form as a tonic.

Mrs. Kate D. Richardson of Beasley, Essex Co., Va., says: "I esteem it a pleasure to testify to the wonderful curative quality of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For some years I suffered greatly from different ailments. I was treated by several physicians, but gradually grew worse. One of my friends told me of the good results of your Favorite Prescription. I went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking it, with the 'Pleasant Pellets' I continued to get better. I never knew what happiness was, for I was always sick and complaining and made others as well as myself unhappy. So you see what a debt I owe you!"

VICK'S VAPOR-RUB SALVE

ADVISES INSPECTION OF STOVES

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—Walker K. Chorn, State Superintendent of Insurance, today issued a warning to property owners against fires. He advised that a thorough inspection of stoves and furnaces be made before winter.

"Eleven per cent of the fires in Missouri result from defective heating devices and chimneys," Supt. Chorn said. He suggested that property owners see that chimneys are free from cracks and soot, and that zinc or other metal be placed under stoves to prevent coals or hot ashes from setting fire to floors.

WILSON RECEIVES BAR OF GOLD FOR WEDDING RING

Gift of a Delegation of California Women at White House.

"HAPPY THOUGHT," HE SAYS

Urged to Visit Exposition by Petition of 300,000; Acceptance Doubtful.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Wilson today received a delegation of women and girls from California, who gave him a piece of gold from a California mine and also a bar of gold to make a wedding ring for Mrs. Norman Galt, his fiancée.

The delegation also brought petitions signed by 300,000 Californians, urging the President to visit the San Francisco Exposition before it closes in December. Later the women gave to Mrs. Galt a cluster of California orange blossoms.

The President, at his call, he did not think he could go, but would change his plans if it were possible.

When the bar of gold was given to the President he accepted it smilingly. "That is a very happy thought," he added when told that a wedding ring for Mrs. Galt could be made of it.

Wide Variety of Color in Gowns

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—The fondness of Mrs. Galt for the orchids President Wilson sends to her every day is reflected in an evening frock, the latest contribution of Baltimore modistes to her trousseau, part of which she has ordered here.

The gown is a delicate confection of orchid shaded tulle over an undergarment of supple orchid-colored silk. It depends for its charm upon its wonderful shade and upon the lines of the filmy bouffant draperies, for no trimming is used on the gown except a single band of blue fox fur across one shoulder. There is no sign of a sleeve drapery and it is cut quite low above the high girde of orchid-colored silk, from which the tulle hangs full about the hips.

Lavender and Rose.
A second gown from the same shop is a beautiful shade of lavender merging into rose color and shot with pastel blue. It is broadened in silver and is cut on severe straight lines. There is a magnificent train, of Watteau effect, made to be attached below the shoulders or removed when desired.

Another accessory to Mrs. Galt's trousseau is an evening cloak of turquoise blue velvet with collar and cuffs of blue fox fur. Though the cloak hangs free from the shoulders, the fullness is slightly confined at the waist by a belt of turquoise blue velvet embroidered in metallic threads of Oriental shades.

The deep rich green shade of Mrs. Galt's going-away suit has already been dubbed "Bolling Green." One of the shops where she was expected for a going-away suit, a cloak and several blouses in the shade which may become one of the most popular this winter.

Purchases Several Hats.
Mrs. Galt has purchased practically all of her hats in this city. There is a small black velvet turban trimmed with a band of beaver and a touch of green designed to match her going-away suit of green duvetyne, banded in beaver. A large hat of boudoir velvet with shagreened brim was purchased to match an afternoon frock of the same shade. There is also a wide all-black hat dropping slightly at one side trimmed with a soft plume, designed for wear with the afternoon frock of dull green crepe georgette and taffeta.

Several other hats for afternoon and evening wear have also been selected here.

CHARLES H. M'KEE ELECTED GLOBE PRINTING CO. PRESIDENT

Vice-President of Company Publishing Globe-Democrat, Succeeds Late D. M. Houser.

Charles H. McKee was elected president and manager of the Globe Printing Co., publishers of the Globe-Democrat, yesterday, to succeed the late D. M. Houser. He has been vice president of the company for many years.

E. Lansing Ray who has been secretary for several years, becomes vice president. Douglas B. Houser was elected to the Board of Directors to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father. The Board of Directors is now composed of McKee, Ray, John C. Porter, William C. Houser and Douglas B. Houser.

The following resolution was passed by the board at the meeting: "That in the death of Mr. Daniel M. Houser, which occurred in this city on the 10th instant, the Globe Printing Company and the Globe-Democrat have lost a faithful and efficient officer, who for over half a century has discharged the various duties of his several positions with credit and fidelity, and whose judgment, industry and integrity have contributed largely to the success of the business of this company and the upbuilding of the Globe-Democrat. His years as president and general manager were among its most successful.

"That this resolution be spread upon the records of the company and that a copy, duly engrossed, be conveyed to the family of the deceased."

AUSTRIA HOLDS CANTACUZENE

Former Rumanian Minister of Justice Arrested on Way Home.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—The former Rumanian Minister of Justice, Michael Cantacuzene, was arrested at Salzburg, Austria, when on his way back to Rumania, says the Petit Parisien's Bucharest correspondent.

The reason given for his arrest was that Cantacuzene was the bearer of a letter to Filipeco, leader of the Conservative party in Rumania. The correspondent adds that the newspapers demand that the Government intervene in behalf of Cantacuzene.

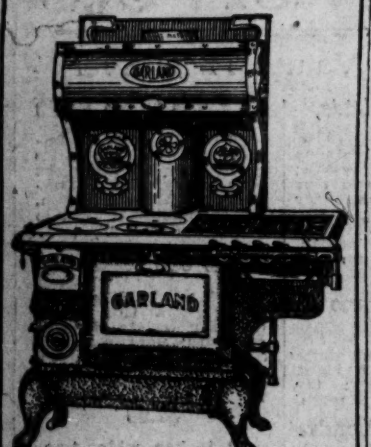

REMARKABLE CASE of Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had congestion and female ailments, pains in both sides, backaches and other pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind. I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicine and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in a grave or in an asylum if your medicine had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies (and all is pleasure and happiness in my home)."—MRS. JOSIE HAM, R. F. D. 1, Box 22, Shamrock, Missouri.

SALE OF TICKETS TO CHARITY BALL NEARING $5000

Of the 62 Boxes 48 Have Been Subscribed for at $50 a Box.

Decorators are putting Moolah Temple in readiness for the charity ball which will be given there tomorrow night for the benefit of the Children's Hospital. Potted plants will be used profusely in the ballroom and in the dining room, while the stage where debutantes will give a series of special dances, will be banked heavily with green.

Nearly $5000 already has been received by the committees in charge of the sale of tickets. More than 400 floor tickets, at $10 a couple, have been sold. Of the 62 boxes, 48 have been subscribed for, at $50 a box, each box seating six persons. The proceeds of the ball will be used to help pay a $15,000 debt on the hospital, which is part of the imposing Barnes Hospital group on King's highway.

Special Dances for 30 Minutes. The boxes have been arranged about the ballroom floor and in the balcony, and back of the balcony boxes are tiers of seats for the holders of floor tickets to witness the special program of dances which will open the ball. The special dances will last 30 minutes, after which there will be a grand march, dancing by the guests, supper in the dining room on the ground floor, and more dancing.

Sixty-two tables have been reserved, the guests at each table numbering from six to 40. One of the tables, seating 40, is in charge of Carl Langenberg, who will have only debutantes and men. Arthur Y. Wear will have second and third-year girls and young matrons. Clarence Graves will have 12 girls and an equal number of men. Charles Wall Jr. will have a table of Lennox Club members.

Debutantes will be conspicuous everywhere, most of the special feature dances being by the young girls, who are making their bow to society this year. Gus Haenschen's Orchestra will furnish the dance music and play during the supper.

Jewel and Pompadour Rose Dances. Miss Melba Hoerner will dance the Jewel dance. Ann von Harten, Theodora Barnett, Mary Lambert, Catherine Pierce, Ella Curlee and Lucile Cornet will give a Pompadour rose dance. These are numbers in addition to the special dances in which the Veiled Prophet Queens of the last four years will participate.

The young girls will wear Grecian draperies and carry baskets of flowers on the head, the flowers to be thrown to the diners. Cigarettes will be passed about during the supper by debutantes clad in the costumes of Pierrot and Pierrette.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET FRIDAY

Will Arrange for Participation in Meeting to Be Held in Hannibal.

A meeting of the Democratic City Committee and other Democrats will be held Friday evening in the Planters Hotel to arrange for participation by St. Louis Democrats in a political meeting to be held Oct. 23, in Hannibal. This is one of the series of meetings in different parts of the State arranged by United States Senators Stone and Reed. After the meeting Friday night many members of the committee and others will depart for Nevada, Mo., where a meeting will be held Saturday.

Other meetings will be held in Springfield, Oct. 20, and in Sedalia, Nov. 2. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky will speak at the Springfield and Sedalia meetings, and Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama is expected to speak at the Springfield meeting.

Where Does Your Boy Get His Lunch?

When he was home he had your care. Before he started out to get a job and fight his own way in the world, his mother's hands prepared his food—his mother's care provided lunches that were pure and clean and good. But how about him now?

Does he get his lunches now in restaurants where sanitary methods are employed? Does he eat in restaurants that guard his health as you did, when he was home? Does he get his lunches where cleanliness and purity stand first, or in some place where such things are a secondary matter? Does he eat where the milk and cream are Pasteurized and rich in nourishment, and where the butter is real butter—or in some place where butterine and other substitutes are considered good enough?

There are 88 Pure Food Restaurants in the United States and Canada—5 of them right here in St. Louis—all fitted up in white tile and spotless marble—all fitted up in accordance with modern sanitation—and in these 88 restaurants you can be sure that every ounce of food provided is absolutely pure. In these 88 restaurants the milk and cream are rich and nourishing and clean—the finest that the best dairy farms produce. In these 88 restaurants there is real butter, straight from the finest creameries, and eggs as sweet and good as any farm boy ever ate for breakfast. These 88 restaurants are owned by a pure food crank. They are safe for either you or your boy to eat in. Look for this PURE FOOD SIGN—

How She Acquired "Feminine Charm"

A nicely dressed woman sat beside me in the train. Everyone stared at her. It was not her beauty of features that held our eyes, nor her costume. But there was something about her face and expression—I liked it and asked: "Would you mind telling me how you keep your complexion so dazzlingly pure? Don't think me impertinent, but you seem over 35, yet haven't a line in your face, and your cheeks are quite peach-like. How do you do it?"

Laughing, she said: "That's easy! I remove my skin. Sounds shocking, doesn't it? But listen. Instead of cosmetics I use only pure mace and rose, procurable at any drugstore. I apply this nightly, like cold cream, washing it off morning. This gently abrades the skin, weather-beaten skin—without the wash or discomfort that prevails the fresh, clear underlain. Every woman who uses this beautiful cosmetic underneath you know that, in ward of wrinkles, she is a face made by doctor's prescribed massage (one guess) in one-half a face made by doctor's prescribed massage, which 'tense' the skin was thought to be. I'm now trying her plan and find it the most successful plan in the Beauty Teller—ADV."

SOCIETY

MISS MARY BULLEN, daughter of Mrs. A. G. Bullen of 17 Washington terrace, gave a luncheon today at the Woman's Club in honor of Miss Edith Piper.

The guests, who numbered 25, were seated at a large oval table decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. They included Misses Doris Johnston, Evelyn Stoneman, Leona Strassburger, Lida Wiegand, Anna Laurie Warmack, Junia Wilkison, Theodora Nugent, Lillian Cornet and Theodora Barnet, and some of the debutantes, who were Isabella Wells, Jane Shapleigh, Katherine Pierce, Marion Banister, Grace Getty, Jeannette Huttig, Mildred Sloan, Ella Curlee, Charlotte Rayburn, Marie Young, and Misses C. R. Croninger, Douglas Cox, George P. Whitelaw II and William J. Hill.

Miss Anna Wright Benoit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Benoit of 622 E. Main avenue, entertained at luncheon in honor of two of the debutantes of the season, Misses Cornelia McNair and Grace Taylor. The guests, who also were debutantes, included Misses Madeline Overton, Marie Ewing White, Marie Christy Church, Elizabeth Holliday, Anne Collins, Julia Tyler and Isabel Capen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Monroe Cunningham of Ferguson and George G. Cunningham were married at 2 o'clock this afternoon at St. George's Episcopal Chapel, the Rev. Benjamin T. Kemmer officiating. Only the nearest relatives were present. The bride was given in marriage by Charles A. Cunningham.

She is the widow of Charles A. Cunningham Jr., who died about a year and a half ago. Since then she has made her home with the Cunninghams in Ferguson.

Mr. Cherbonnier and his bride will go away for their honeymoon and upon their return they will make their home in St. Louis.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cherbonnier of Ferguson, and a member of an old pioneer family.

Miss Jessie Barr Wright, daughter of George M. Wright, was married last evening to Dr. George D. Outler of Boston, Mass.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride at 8:30 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. Z. B. T. Phillips of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

The bride's gown was made of tulle over white satin. The waist was of tulle and the entire dress was trimmed with point lace that had belonged to the bride's mother. It formed an overskirt over a petticoat of tulle and composed the bodice.

Her veil was of tulle, worn with a wreath of orange blossoms and fell to the end of the train that also was of tulle and lace.

She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Wright, who was her sister's bridesmaid, wore a gown of salmon pink chiffon and carried a bouquet of Brunner roses.

Her headpiece was like a short bride-maid's veil of pink tulle reaching to the shoulders with a band of silver ribbon that went all around her head and tied into a stiff bow that stood up in a stunning bow at the back.

Little Jean Wright Ford, the bride's niece, was flower girl and carried a basket of Brunner roses.

After the reception and the bride and bridegroom had departed the younger set stayed to dance.

Dr. and Mrs. Outler have gone into the Maine woods to spend their honeymoon at a hunting lodge and will later go to Boston to reside.

Dr. Outler is a surgeon and he and his bride met more than a year ago when Mr. Wright was ill at his summer home in Hyannisport, Mass.

He is the son of Alfred L. Outler of Boston. The bride is a member of the Wednesday Club and D. A. R. and a lover of outdoor sports.

Their home will be at 84 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

Special showing today of Flower Hats: "La dernière Mode" in millinery. Rosenheim, Importer.

Mrs. Sophia Ryan of Sedalia, Mo., is spending a month as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Touchstone, of the Hamilton Hotel.

Mrs. J. C. Mitchell of the Hamilton Hotel is entertaining her mother, Mrs. J. Y. Turner, of Jonesboro, Ark., for a fortnight.

The marriage of Miss Florence Nightingale Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. P. Hamilton, of 5617 Cates avenue, and David Ralph Millard of Asheville, N. C., was solemnized last evening in the Boffinger Memorial Chapel of Christ Church Cathedral.

The bride was given in white satin and tulle and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. After the ceremony, which was witnessed by relatives and friends, there was a reception at the home of the bride.

Mr. Millard and his bride will make their home in Asheville.

Mrs. John McAllister gave a luncheon today at her home in Clayton in honor of her daughter, Miss Pearl McAllister, whose engagement to Philip S. Martin Jr. was announced last week. The marriage has been set for Nov. 24.

The guests were: Misses Celeste and Rosalie Egan, Virginia Schartz, Dorothy Murphy, Helen Egan, Sara Warren, Frances Meyer, Jean Farmer, Harriet Wickard, Edith McCarthy and Colleen Wrate, and Misses George Haines, Earl Hubbard, Forest Avant and William Higgs.

—there's enough more to satisfy most any woman in St. Louis. These soft, pretty tones of corduroy, beautifully lined, are very handsome and luxurious coats at this price. The rich Silk Plush Coats, of which we are offering a number of styles, are priced very close for this event.

Many Are Fur-Trimmed

Some are self trimmed. All are very attractive and you'll surely find one you'll like among the lot.

What Is An Optometrist?

An optometrist is a man who by long experience has become qualified to test eyes and fit glasses. When you are sick you go to a properly qualified expert—a physician. When you feel the need of glasses you should go to an optometrist.

Optometrists are at your service at the Western. Optical examinations are free. Glasses are reasonably priced.

BEATEN WHEN HE CALLS ON WIFE

John Webb, 26 years old, of 1408 Tower Grove avenue, visited his wife, Mrs. Esther Webb of 3809 Folsom avenue, yesterday afternoon to see if she would make up with him. They had been separated for several weeks and Webb anticipated a happy reunion.

He was met at the front door of his wife's home by her two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Cinders and Mrs. Laura Duggan, who informed him that his wife did not care to see him. He tried to force his way in and his sisters-in-law beat him so severely that he had to go to the city hospital. No arrests were made as no one involved would prosecute.

35 years of strictly high-grade tailoring at reasonable prices is proof of well-pleased patrons. Suits and overcoats, $20 and up. H. A. Hesse, Pierce Bldg.

CHAMPAGNE BATTLEFIELD NOW THICKLY DOTTED WITH GRAVES OF FALLEN MEN

Terrific Artillery Fire of French Tore German Trenches, Leaving Huge Craters Everywhere, Says Correspondent Who Visited Field.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 20.—"We took everything to the edge of the horizon the first day," said an officer standing on the first line French trench whence a wave of men 15 miles long rose on the morning of Sept. 25 and dashed on from one to five miles before the tidal rush of soldiers was stopped.

The correspondent on his first view of the field of the great battle in the Champagne looked across a rolling land whose thin soil was studded with graves and thickly sprinkled with dwarf pines which stood out against the almost snow-white system of chalk-like redoubts, trenches, traverses, communication ditches and other defensive construction by which German military science had in vain sought impregnability.

The population was meager in this camp of Chalons, where the French army had fought to regain the old review ground which for a year has been the theater of relentless sap warfare. Only the village of Perthes whose slight cluster of houses have become typical ruins through shell fire was in sight from the spot.

Witnesses Result of Attack.
Walking over the course of the French advance the correspondent witnessed the results of the most powerful defense against the most powerful attack of the war. The famous hill, the Bois de Tahure, the occupation of which clinched the French success, resembled a small wooded hill in an Eastern American state. Shells were seen bursting at a distance over the railroad at Somme-Bay. Thus this important German transport line has been cut by French gun fire, rendering the railroad useless.

The prodigious labor done by the French before the attack is indicated by the transport road 10 miles long and a winding communication ditch six feet deep, six feet broad and five miles long, which they had cut through chalk of the consistency of soft stone to enable them to move rapidly under the cover of their shell fire for the assault. Though this is three weeks and more after the battle, the ground was still strewn with German shells and hand grenades that had not exploded. In French soldiers were yet gathering and sorting piles of German accoutrements and other war material.

Here and there sometimes in a shell hole; sometimes in a dugout the German dead had been buried. At one place 24 and at another 15, as a cross over the common grave revealed, unidentifiable French dead had also been laid to rest. Close to the cemeteries where were found the bodies of men fallen during preceding battles are newer cemeteries for the French, the graves in both being marked by wooden crosses bearing the names of the fallen. These are one-time enemies now sleeping close to one another.

Names of Dead in Battle.
The cross over the grave of one French soldier was surmounted by huge wreaths, such as are seen in the cemeteries of Paris, which relatives had sent in cases where there had not yet been time for the placing of crosses, bottles containing pieces of paper bearing the names of the fallen had been thrust downward in the front of the graves, so that the rains might not render the writing undecipherable. Nearly every cross seen bore the inscription, "Killed on the field of honor." In one case a priest had built a garlanded bower of pine branches on the hillside for the dead of his regiment.

Considering the immensity of the operation—at least 1,000,000 men engaged on both sides along the narrow front—it was amazing how apparently small the number of French casualties. Officers who had participated in the charge said the German losses had been heavier than the first official estimate and must have reached 150,000.

Twenty thousand German prisoners, they said, was a small proportion to the number of Germans killed by the high explosive shells and in hand-to-hand fighting in the trenches. The barbed wire front of the first line trenches had been cut to bits and it was impossible to live or to make resistance during the preparatory bombardment. Soldiers agreed that the pushing of the line was a walk-in, there being neither rifle nor machine gun fire to stop them, so excellent had been the work of the enormous concentrated French artillery fire.

Serious resistance developed at the second line, where the trenches on the entire 15-mile sector had not in all places been smashed and the wire not always cut so that the advancing troops had to pause at places and slowly cut their way. By the state of the wire the tide had advanced, halted and flowed through the opening made before rolling on.

Germania Well Fortified.
The labor that had been expended in constructing the German trenches and fortifications was enormous. It was as if hundreds of thousands of human beings had never ceased to toil in preparing for their protection. French officers said the Germans knew that the attack was coming and thought they were overwhelmed by the number of the French guns and the masses of French troops. The most formidable point seen was the redoubt from Briet which had a labyrinth of dungeon-like cellars. Sand bag galleries had been pounded into heaps of earth by the high explosives, the sand bags having been turned into rags mixed with dust before the position was surrounded by French infantry which managed to find a few of the occupants still alive. What few were left had their senses numbed. "If we can take that with our guns," said a soldier, "we ought to be able to take anything the Germans can build."

probably 500,000 sand bags was a mine crater 100 feet deep and 200 feet across, which the French had created by an explosion after the guns had finished their work and just before infantry charge. Many such mine craters were seen at formidable points along the German and French lines. Significant of German strategy in preparation to resist the attacks was a long ditch through the woods in which the charging French soldiers naturally took cover. At the end the ditch branched into blind alleys, while a concealed machine gun commanded it. "However," we took the gun," said an officer who had led the attack in this section.

Real Home Under Ground.
Roads and light railways which the Germans had built to supply their trenches with food and material are now used by the French. German trenches are being reversed into French defenses. Deep dugouts made by the Germans 20 feet under a parapet now give the French reserves protection from shell fire. An underground habitation fitted with lace curtains, tables and chairs which German officers had used, is now occupied by French officers. In a dugout labeled "Schriestube," where German soldiers wrote home to Posen or Hanover, French soldiers wrote to Marseilles or Bordeaux. Tanned, sturdy soldiers appeared from burrows of chalk welcoming the latest newspaper which the correspondent brought and all exhibiting confidence that what they had done once they could do again.

An officer pointed out the spot near a clump of trees where Gen. Marchand, standing on a parapet of one of the German trenches fell wounded as he was directing the charge toward the next trench. Tales of heroism and qualities of leadership and initiative of officers and privates were heard without end from the lips of those who had been in the battle. A General of the brigade who had seized a rifle and led the charge of a regiment after its Colonel had been killed, retrieving a critical situation, has now been promoted to be commander of a division.

On the front line the French and Germans have settled down for the present, to the ground. Occasionally there are machine-gun duels of airplanes, 7000 to 8000 feet high, the sound of their firing varying from 50 to 300 yards, according to their positions.

KROGER'S QUALITY

By Jean Knott

"The Public Wants More Quality and Less Quantity of Baseball," Says He.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The post-season tour of picked teams of the American and National Leagues, which was to open today at Oshkosh, Wis., will be the last in which American League players will be shipped to the field.

President B. B. Johnson of the American League in making this announcement will be quoted as having gathered together to represent the American organization were a "joke team," and that "the country could get no quality itself through the winter 'is an injury to the sport and to the players themselves."

"We will stop this misquasering," President Johnson said. "There is too much baseball now in the regular season. The public wants more quality. The only way to increase the public's interest in baseball is to reduce the quantity and improve the quality."

A. L. Team a Joke.

"Nothing like a representative team has been picked from either of the major leagues. The one gathered to represent the American League is a joke." That was the opinion of the club owners who said that the present tour was being made without the consent of the National Baseball Commission. The club owners of the club owners whose players were selected for the tour were selected.

These club owners, although opposed to their players making post-season tours, are not in a position to give consent rather than make an individual player make a post-season tour. Consequently the National Commission will draft legislation to forestall plans for future post-season tours.

Princeton Scrubs Score

On Varsity Following 5
Tries From 5-Yard Line
PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28.—Another long and hard practice was held in the tiger camp today as Coach Ruse, in the spirit of the warm weather, drove his players to the warm ups in progress on Saturday's game with Dartmouth. There were 35-minute scrimmages in which the first two series were won by the length of the field for two scores. The third series was a tie, the result of successful forward passes.

Then the scrubs took the ball and, after a few minutes of practice, the varsity were able to score on the varsity, although the scrubs were unable to get into the five-yard line.

Later the second team opposed the first team in a series of scrimmages. Due to the clever running of Law, who also tried a couple of drop kicks from

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFULLY DARKENS THE HAIR WHEN IT IS FADED OR GRAY

Sage Tea when Mixed with Sulphur Makes Your Hair Soft, Lustrous and Removes Every Bit of Dandruff.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

LAWYER COURTED HER AT 13, GIRL SUEING HIM SAYS

She Asks $7000 for Being Jilted by New Jersey Clubman When She "Grew Up" to 17.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 20.—Kitty, 17, a girl who started her courtship when she was 13 years old, but jilted her when she "grew up" to the mature age of 17, Katherine Abrams, daughter of Douglas Abrams, former tavern keeper at Red Lion, testified in the Circuit Court at May's Landing in support of her suit for $7,000 damages against Robert Gaskill, a wealthy retired lawyer of Mount Holly, member of exclusive Philadelphia and New Jersey clubs.

Seventy-seven letters which the girl says she received from Gaskill during four years, written from different parts of the country when he was traveling with his wife or alone, in which she alleges he protested undying devotion were introduced as evidence, but not read. Most of them will not be read in open court.

The earlier letters were signed "Uncle Robert," but later ones "Your Bobbie," "Your loving Bob" and "Your affectionate Rob."

The writer addressed her as "Darling Kitty" and the like.

Met in Father's Tavern.
Miss Abrams testified that she first met Gaskill in 1911, when he entered her father's tavern at Red Lion, a suburb of Mount Holly. She went into the main room for matches and Gaskill, seeing her, she said, took her upon his lap and said:

"My! What a beautiful child. I'd like to adopt her. I'm real fond of children, but have none."

Kitty was then 13 years old. She testified that Gaskill came back in about a month and they went for a ride in the woods. Gaskill, she swore, promised her end later gave her a saddle horse to keep their secret. From then he was a frequent caller at the tavern. Miss Abrams declared he would coax her into a parlor and make love to her.

Gaskill, about Christmas, 1913, when his first wife died, wrote to the girl, according to her testimony, that it wouldn't look right for him to call upon her at that time, because of his prominence in the community, and remained away several months. In July, 1914, he renewed his suit, she said, after the Abrams family moved to Medford and to Clarksboro, N. J. At this time, the witness said, Gaskill announced that he had "tried every way in his power to keep away, but simply couldn't live without her." Then he told her he had taxes on $300,000 property and proposed marriage. She rejected him, having fallen in love with a youth named Markley of Clarksboro, but he coaxed her to give Markley up.

Family Moved to City.
Later, according to the girl, he approached her father whom he had known in politics for years, about adopting the girl. The father replied, she said: "You can marry her if you love her, but you can't buy her."

In the spring of 1914 the girl moved to this city with her parents. Gaskill called nearly every week, she testified, continuing to press his suit. Matters progressed to plans for their home at Mount Holly, and the furnishings for it. Then Gaskill changed his front, she swore, and, on his final visit, in September, he announced that he would not marry her.

"He offered me anything I wanted if I would live with him, but I refused," she said. The girl declared Gaskill had given her rings, diamonds, jewelry, clothing, fur coats and checks.

Markley was present in court and will be a witness.

Clarence L. Cole, associate counsel for the defense, declared:

"It there has been a promise of marriage the conduct of the plaintiff was such as to justify refusal."

Geraldine Farrar's Story of Her Own Career

It is the intensely human story of a modern American girl's conquest of the world in the most exacting of all the arts—a story of romance and adventure, peopled with the famous men and women of America and Europe today. Millions will see Miss Farrar this autumn on the moving-picture screen; other millions have heard her golden voice from the records; vast audiences have been swayed by her magic personality in those great operatic rôles that she has made her own. Everyone will want to read her story now for the first time told with perfect frankness by herself.

JAILER STANDS OFF MOB OF 200

MARION, Ark., Oct. 20.—Single handed, Deputy Sheriff Willford stood off a mob of 200 men early today and saved a negro prisoner whom they threatened to lynch.

The mob gained entry to the jail on a pretext, but Willford, who acts as jailer, thrust his pistol into the side of the leader and forced him and his followers to back out. Then, hiding the key to the jail, the Deputy went outside and told the men he intended to fight as long as his ammunition lasted. The mob departed without more disorder.

WILLIAM DESMOND, FORMER DETECTIVE CHIEF, IS VERY ILL

He Is Taken to Hospital to Be Treated for Nervous Break-Down.

HAS WIDE REPUTATION

He Resigned in 1907 After He Was Reduced to Lieutenant
by Fgk Police Board.

William Desmond of 4290 Page boulevard, former Chief of Detectives of the St. Louis Police Department and afterward head of the Desmond National Secret Service Agency, was taken yesterday afternoon to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital to be treated for a nervous breakdown. His condition is serious.

He has been in poor health for a year. He made an attempt to continue looking after his business, but friends noticed, from his speech and his appearance, that his memory and mental grasp appeared to be failing. During the last two or three months his condition has rapidly grown worse, but he insisted on making regular trips to his office.

Desmond was appointed Chief of Detectives in September, 1890, and was Chief 17 years. During this time criminals of high and low degree were in terror of his sweating process. He never used violence, but rarely failed to get a confession from his prisoner by his persistent questioning. In his prime he had a national reputation as a shrewd detective.

Desmond resigned from the Police Department nine years ago, after he had been reduced from Chief of Detectives to Lieutenant.

The reduction was a part of the reorganization of the department by the Police Board, headed by A. C. Stewart, and appointed by Gov. Folk. Many detectives and policemen were removed on charges of graft, and Desmond was given a specified time to clean the department of other men against whom no charges had been filed, but who were under suspicion. All of them had worked under him for many years.

After the time elapsed the Board decided that Desmond had not carried out its orders satisfactorily and reduced him. A short time later he resigned, and opened a private detective agency. No charges ever were filed against Desmond.

Since that time he has tried several times to regain the position of Chief of Detectives. In the Hadley administration he was instrumental in getting up a petition containing more than 1000 names and several hundred personal letters to the Governor, A. A. B. Woerheide, then President of the Board, was impressed with the number of names and the prominence of many of the signers, but other members of the Board opposed Desmond's reinstatement.

Another big petition was presented to the present Board, of which two members favored Desmond, a third strongly opposed him and a fourth was noncommittal. His reinstatement never came to a vote.

ONLY 7 FREEHOLDERS ASKED TO EFFICIENCY BOARD INQUIRY

Alderman Hall Says Other Six, Democrats, Will Be Summoned at Next Meeting.

Only seven of the 13 freeholders who drafted the new charter were summoned to appear before the committee investigating the Efficiency Board last week. It was learned by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that the freeholders of the committee, denied that the freeholders were summoned as to their attitude toward the present Efficiency Board before they were summoned, when his attention was called to the fact that a list of seven freeholders was all that had been presented to process servers of the Board of Aldermen.

Hall admitted that only seven had been selected for service at the first meeting of his committee, but said it was the intention to summon the other six, who are Democrats, at the next meeting of the committee to be held within a week.

Those who appeared at the first hearing, with the exception of Alderman Udel, were unfavorable critics of the Efficiency Board.

FRANCE CARRYING ON SMALL WAR IN TUNIS WITH ROBBERS

Bands From Tripoli Plunder Country,
Cut Telegraph Wires Attack
Provision Convoys.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—One of the small wars France is carrying on, but of which little is heard, is being waged in Tunisia. It consists chiefly of engagements with robber bands crossing the frontier from Tripoli. These bands plunder the country, cut the telegraph wires and attack provision convoys to the French outposts.

Important fighting of this kind took place in the Dehbat region from Sept. 25 to Oct. 9, during which time the French garrison of 200 men kept a large number of robbers at bay until relief arrived.

INJURED KNOX FOOTBALL PLAYER TO BE PARALYZED IF HE LIVES

Sand Bags Placed About Young Scott
in City Hospital to Prevent Any Movement.

Bryan Scott of Galesburg, Ill., the Knox football player who was injured in the game with St. Louis University Saturday is still in a serious condition in the city hospital. He has not eaten anything since yesterday, but rested well last night. The lower part of his body is partially paralyzed and sand bags have been placed around his body to keep him from moving. One of the vertebra near his neck is cracked and his spine is dislocated. If he does not die it is stated he will be paralyzed for life.

Richard A. Thompson, 17 years old, of 6226 Paulian place, is convalescing at St. Mary's Infirmary, following an operation for the removal of an abscess from his kidney which resulted from an injury received in a practice scrimmage in Forest Park of the Soldan High School football squad, of which he is a member, Oct. 8. Thompson and Halback Bowen of the school squad were charging down the field when a tackler appeared. Both dived at him and collided, Bowen's knees striking Thompson in the back.

Thompson is an allround athlete and is captain of the Soldan track team and a member of the baseball squad. His parents announce that he will not be permitted to play football again.

German-Americans Commend Wilson
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 20.—The German-American Federation of Arkansas, in session here, last night adopted resolutions commending President Wilson for "his policy of peace toward Germany despite the clamors of a persistent pro-British faction for war."

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF NOR ANY FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within 10 minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowledge's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—ADV.

The Aeolian-Vocalion

First payment $8; the balance payable in small monthly payments. Allowances on phonographs of other makes.

HERE is a beautiful new model of the celebrated Aeolian-Vocalion—the phonograph that has created such a sensation in the music industry.

Though of such moderate cost, it contains all the important scientific discoveries and inventions that make the Aeolian-Vocalion the greatest phonograph the world has ever known.

NEW PHONOGRAPH FEATURES:

- The Sound Box
which produces a rich, mellow and rounded depth of tone wholly new to the phonograph, and does away with all suggestion of nasal stridency.
- The Symphonic Horn
which preserves all the subtle tonal characteristics of different instruments and voices, and produces for the first time from a phonograph even such delicate effects as the wistful "string-beauties" of violins and the mellow "wood-tones" of flutes and clarinets.
- The Automatic Stop
a new triumph of simplicity and efficiency, only two movements are required to "set" the record to stop at any place desired and start it playing.
- And the Wonderful Graduals which confer the wholly new phonographic privilege of perfect and artistic tone-control.
- It lets you play the phonograph with all the musical feeling you possess. If an interpretation suits you or has not yet become monotonous, you let it play itself, as it does on other phonographs. But at any moment and on any record you can introduce just the subtle variations needed to make it sound freshly new and to express your own individuality, as well as the artist's.
- Added to these advantages is a simple dignity of line and finish wholly unapproached in phonographs before and impossible to convey in a mere illustration.

Demonstrations of this splendid new Aeolian-Vocalion, as well as other models, cheerfully given to the merely curious as well as intending phonograph purchasers.

SOME NEW RECIPES.

Salad Dressing—One cup of milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika. Two tablespoons of olive oil may be substituted for the melted butter.

Must Betty's Pudding—Put 1 quart water in a saucepan over fire, add a little salt and 1 cup of chopped suet.

When the water boils add 1 cup of Indian meal (granulated), stirring constantly till thick as hasty pudding. After it cools a while, sweeten with about 1/2 cup molasses and add 1/2 cup seeded raisins. Bake in a deep pudding dish in a slow oven for several hours.

Spiced Grapes—Pulp and seed grapes sufficient to weigh 5 pounds after preparation. Add 4 pounds sugar, a pinch of elder vinegar (pure), 2 tablespoons of cloves and 2 tablespoons cinnamon. Bring all to a boil and boil half an hour, with constant stirring. Seal while hot in jars or glasses. Currants may be prepared in a similar fashion but only need to be stemmed.

Grapefruit and Pineapple Salad—Cut the grapefruit into small sections, free from white pith and seeds, add an equal quantity of pineapple cut into small pieces, dress with a little salt, 2 tablespoons of oil and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, let stand one hour and serve on tender lettuce leaves.

Her Little Responsibility

... And no man may answer for the soul of his brother.

By Rudyard Kipling.

I was 2 in the morning, and Epstein's Dive was almost empty, when a Thing staggered into the place and led to that horrible place and fawned on me disgustingly for the price of a drink. "I'm dying of thirst," he said, but his tone was not that of a street loafer. There was a tremor in the freemasonry of the public schools, stronger than any that the Craft knows. The Thing drank whiskey raw, which in itself is not calculated to slake thirst, and I waited at its side, because I knew, by virtue of the one sentence above recorded, that it once belonged to my caste. Indeed, so small is the world when one begins to travel round it, that, for aught I knew, I might even have met the Thing in that menagerie of carefully trained wild beasts, Decent Society. And the Thing drank more whiskey as the flood-gates of its speech were loosed and spoke of the wonderful story of its fall.

NEVER man, he said, had suffered more than he, or for lighter sin. Whereat I winked heavily into the bottom of my empty glass, having heard that tale before. I think the Thing had been long divided from all social and moral restraint—ever longer from the wholesome influence of soap and water.

"What I feel most down here," said it, and by "down here" I presume he meant the inferno of his own conscience, "is the difficulty about getting a bath. A man can always catch a free lunch at any of the bars in the city, if he has money enough to buy a drink with, and you can sleep out for six or eight months of the year without bath, but San Francisco doesn't run to free baths. It's not an amusing life any way you look at it. I'm more or less used to that, but it hurts me even now to meet a decent man who knows something of life in the old country. I was raised at Harrow—Harrow, if you please—and I'm not 25 yet, and I haven't got a penny, and I haven't got a friend, and there is nothing in creation that I can command except a drink, and I have to beg for that. Have you ever begged for a drink? It hurts at first, but you get used to it. My father's a parson. I don't think he knows I beg a drink. He lives near Salisbury. Do you know Salisbury at all? And then there's my mother, too. But I have not heard from either of them for a couple of years. They think I'm in a real estate office in Washington Territory, coining money hand over fist. If ever you run across them—I suppose you will some day—there's the address. Tell them that you've seen me, and that I am well, and fit. 'Understand'—well and fit. I guess I'll be dead by the time you see 'em. That's hard. Men oughtn't to die at five and twenty of drink. Say, were you ever smothered on a girl? Not one of those you see, girls out here, but an English one—the sort of girl one meets at the vicarage tennis party, don't you know. A girl of our own set. I don't mean smothered exactly, but dead, clean gone, head over ears, and worse than that I was once, and I fancy I took the thing pretty much as I take liquor now. I didn't know when to stop. It didn't seem to me that there was any reason for stopping in affairs of that kind. I'm quite sure there's no reason for stopping half-way with liquor. Go the whole hog and die. It's all right, though—I'm not going to get drunk here. Five in the morning will suit me just as well, and I haven't the chance of talking to one of you fellows often. So you cut about in fine clothes, do you, and take your drinks at the best bars and put up at the Palace? All English men do. Well, here's luck; you may be what I am one of these days. You'll find companions quite as well raised as yourself.

"BUT about this girl. Don't do what I did. I fell in love with her. She lived near us in Salisbury; that was when I had a clean shirt every day and hired horses to ride. One of the guineas I spent on that amusement would keep me for a week here. But about this girl. I don't think some men ought to be allowed to fall in love any more than they ought to be allowed to taste whiskey. She said she cared for me. Used to say that about a thousand times a day, with a kiss in between. I think about those things now, and they make me nearly as drunk as the whiskey does. Do you know anything about that love-making business? I stole a copy of Cleopatra off a bookstall in Kewney street, and that priest-chap says a very true thing about it. You can't stop it when it's once started, and when it's all over you can't give it up at the word of command. I forgot the precise language. That girl cared for me, I'd give something if she could see me now. She doesn't like men without collars and odd boots and somebody else's hat; but anyway, she made me what I am, and some day she'll know it. I came out here two years ago to a real estate office; my father bought me some sort of a place in the firm. We were all Englishmen, but we were about a match for the average Yankee; but I forgot to tell you I was engaged to the girl before I came out. Never you make a woman swear oaths of eternal constancy. She'll break every one of them as soon as her mind changes, and call you unjust for making her swear them. I worked enough for five men in my first year. I got a little house and lot in Tacoma and I hardly ever smoked. I sold real estate all day and wrote letters at night. She wrote letters, too, about as full of affection as they make 'em. You can tell nothing from a woman's letter, though. If they want to hide anything, they just double the 'dear' and 'darlings', and then giggle when the man fancies himself deceived.

"Men in pajamas sitting about the funnel and swapping lies of the purple sea." THIS, another story by Rudyard Kipling, is one of a series of short tales published under the title "About the Funnel."

The stories first were printed about 20 years ago in English newspapers, from whose files they have been collected and put in book form.

"I DON'T suppose I was worse off than hundreds of others, but it seems to me that she might have had the grace to let me down easily. She went and got married. I don't suppose she knew exactly what she was doing, because I got the letters just the same six weeks after she was married. It was an old copy of an English paper that showed me what had happened. It came in on the same day as one of her letters, telling me she would be true to the grave of death. Sounds like a novel, doesn't it? But it did not amuse me in the least. I wasn't constructed to pitch the letters into the fire and pick up with a Yankee girl. I wrote her a letter; I rather wish I could remember what was in that letter. Then I went to a bar in Tacoma and had some whiskey, about a gallon, I suppose. If I had anything approaching to a word of honor, I would give it you that I did not know what happened until I was told that my partnership with the firm had been dissolved and that the house did not belong to me any more. I would have left the firm and sold the house anyhow, but the crash sobered me for about three days. Then I started another job. I might have got back after the first one, and been a prominent citizen; but the second bustled matters. Then I began to slide on the downgrade straight off, and here I am now. I could write a book about what I have come through, if I could remember it. The worst of it is I can see that she wasn't worth losing anything in life for, but I've lost everything, and I'm like the priest-chap in 'Cleopatra'—I can't get over what I remember. If she had let me down easy and given me warning, I should have been awfully cut up for a time, but I should have pulled through. She didn't do that, though. She fled to me all along, and married a curate, and I dare say she'll be a virtuous widow later on; but the little affair broke me dead, and if I had more whiskey in me I should be blubbering like a calf all around this Dive. That would have disgusted you, wouldn't it?"

Wireless Stations.

THE latest issue of the directory of radio stations of the world lists 7000 ships' wireless stations, which require the services of more than 15,000 licensed radio operators. The regular land stations required to handle the business of these marine stations number more than 1000, with a working force of 3000 men.

In addition, the records show about 2000 amateur stations in the United States, and it is believed that this is only a small percentage of the total number of amateur stations in the country.

Typewriting by Wire.

A SYSTEM of long-distance typewriting has been developed and for more than a year a big telegraph company has been testing it. The sending operator uses a typewriter similar to that of an ordinary typewriter, and at the receiving end the message is typed out on a telegraph blank, thus obviating loss of time in transcribing it.

The multiplex system is used and eight messages can be sent simultaneously over a single wire.

To Cook Bacon.

IN a dripping pan, place a wire cake-cooler and on this lay your slices of bacon. Bake in a hot oven 15 minutes, when bacon will be brown, crisp and dry; and fat in pan as clean as crystal. This prevents smoke and spattering which comes from frying bacon.

The Texas sweet potato crop will amount to 10,000,000 bushels this year. But residents of that expansive State are merely irritated by such diminutives. They say the figure should be 10 times larger.

The earliest artillery guns were made from wrought iron bars, bound together like staves of a cask by the shrinkage over them of iron hoops.

CURTAINS DRAPERIES

You can satisfactorily solve your Curtain or Drapery problem with the aid of the many suggestions at your disposal in this department. You can get exactly what you want at exactly the price you want to pay for it.

The Lace Curtains include every grade and style—from the Nottinghams at $1 per pair to the finest Arabian Laces at $9 a pair. Notwithstanding the quality and beauty of all these, the prices are very reasonable.

Portieres and Draperies of Velvet and Velour, Cretonne, Linen, Sunfast and other fabrics, are in all the newest colorings and designs, at very moderate prices.

CARPETS RUGS

Carpets—As for Carpets, they continue to grow in popularity, particularly for bedrooms. You can't go wrong in selecting one of these. The prices range from 85 cents to $3.50 per yard. You can get extra wide ones for halls, if you desire.

Rugs—Machine-woven rugs, from both American and European looms, are more beautiful this year than ever before. In the 9x12-foot size, for example, the prices range from $15 to $65—other sizes in proportion. And you will be interested in knowing that you can buy rugs in these unusual sizes: 4.6x9; 4.6x15; 6x15; 6.9x12; 9x12; 11.3x13.6 and 12x15.

IMPROVED PROPERTY FOR

[illegible]

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell

Mr. Jarr, illustrating a point,
Succeeds Only in Breaking It.

A LARGE crowd had gathered on the busy thoroughfare. Perhaps it was a murder. Mr. Jarr pushed his way to the forefront of the throng. The cause of all the excitement was a red-headed man doing a sleight-of-hand trick. Such is life in a great city.

"And now, friends," spoke up the street magician, "my little feat of dexterity simply proves to you how the quickness of the hand deceives the eye. My performance was simply to attract your attention to the wonderful little invention that I have demonstrated, the ten-in-one household tool kit. In this hollow handle are 10 little tools of nickel-chrome steel of A1 quality. All the tools fit in the handle—a gimlet, a bradawl, a screwdriver, a chisel, a gouge, a saw, a punch, hand-saw, article no household could be without. And all for 25 cents."

Mr. Jarr had pushed his way through the crowd with so much eager curiosity that the eye of the street merchant had fixed itself on him with hypnotic effect. Mr. Jarr knew if he retired without buying he would without doubt feel the scorn of the glib street vender and get a "howling out" as the vernacular has it. Anyway, Mr. Jarr thought the tool combination a handy thing to have around the house, and so he purchased one.

"You see, friends," said the street merchant, as he handed the multiple implement to Mr. Jarr, "you see our millionaires buy it, for it is equally useful in mansion and in tenement. That gentleman who has just purchased one of these No. Plus Ultra combination tools is none other than young J. P. Morgan, son of the late J. P. Morgan, who has just loaned one hundred millions to France and England. Yet he buys this marvelous little household article—who will be the next?"

The crowd laughed as Mr. Jarr hurried away, and a man with a shovel over his shoulder and his heavy brogans burned with lime bought the next one, being gravely introduced to the crowd as Col. Goethals, the man who had just finished digging the Panama Canal.

The children were very curious to know what the package was that Mr. Jarr brought home, but their curiosity slackened when they found it was not candy. He showed it to Mrs. Jarr, and when she evinced little interest in the multiplicity of its mechanical marvels Mr. Jarr affected a fine scorn and remarked: "Oh, you don't think much of it, but let me tell you that J. P. Morgan, son of the late Mr. J. P. Morgan, young Morgan—although he is older than I am—who has loaned a hundred million-

WOMEN! HERE IS THE MONEY SAVER

Use gasoline to dry clean family's clothes and save $5 in an hour.

Dry cleaning at home is just as simple as laundering. Any woman can clean five dollars' worth in fifteen minutes at little cost by getting from the drug store two ounces of solvite and put this in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves. Then immerse articles to be cleaned; rub a little and in a few moments the gasoline evaporates and the articles look bright and fresh as new.

You can dry clean silk waists, dresses, coats, ribbons, kid gloves, satin shoes, evening slippers, shawls, belts, yokes, fur, coats, muffs, neckties, lawn, dimity and other delicate dresses, draperies, fine lace, lace curtains, woolen garments, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined by soap and water, as dry cleaning doesn't fade, shrink or wrinkle, making pressing unnecessary.

Four grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store, which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit—ADV.

to the warring nations of Europe—has one of these handy little tool kits in every room of his establishment, and Col. Goethals has written a testimonial in which he says he could not have dug the Panama Canal except he always had a lot of them on the job!"

"Well," said Mrs. Jarr, "I don't see what good the thing is to us. We are not going to lend a hundred million dollars to the warring nations of Europe, nor are we going to dig any Panama Canal. I don't see what you bought the thing for, anyhow."

"Woman!" cried Mr. Jarr sternly. "You little wot the potency of this wonderful instrument. At one fell swoop it shatters the traditions of years. Madam this seemingly insignificant little instrument has dealt a death blow to the great feminine myth of the omnipotent hairpin!"

Mrs. Jarr regarded her husband as though he raved, so Mr. Jarr did rave. I tell you, it exposes that aged feminine fraud, the hairpin. It does everything women think a hairpin will do, that they try to make a hairpin do. If the children lose the button-hook you say 'No matter' and try to button their shoes with a hairpin. But it can't be done!"

"It can't be done, because the children are not wearing button shoes," sneered Mrs. Jarr. "This nifty little instrument contains a real button-hook," Mr. Jarr went on, not heeding the interruption. "It does everything that foolish womanhood thinks a hairpin will do. It will pull tacks from the carpet, it cuts the leaves of a book or opens a letter, it bores a hole. Now, there on the wall is where you wish to break the plaster, so I take this broadawl attachment and bore a neat hole—thus."

But Mr. Jarr illustrated awkwardly and in pressing he broke the point of the awl. "There, look what you've made me do!" he cried. "I've broken one of the tools."

"Never mind, dear," replied Mrs. Jarr. "Here's a hairpin, make the hole with that."

But Mr. Jarr said no word, but stalked to the window and cast the No. Plus Ultra Acme Duplex Multiple Family Tool Kit out of the window.

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One

I'm not going to worry any more. I've hired a professional worrier to do it for me. His salary is $500 a month.

"Where are you going to get the money to pay him?"

"That's the first thing he'll have to worry about."

Scared Him.

"I'll attend to you in a minute!" was the favorite remark of a certain mother to any of her children who were naughty; and the delinquent knew that this usually meant a whipping.

One day she sent her 4-year-old son to the grocer's for some flour. It was his first errand, and much to his mother's surprise, he returned empty-handed.

"Where's the flour?" she asked. "I didn't get it," replied the youngster. "I was frightened by the man."

"Nonsense; he won't hurt you!" admonished the parent sternly. "Go back at once and get the flour!" But again the boy came back without it, and this time his eyes were full of tears.

"What's the matter?" asked mother anxiously. "Boo-o-hoo-o!" wailed the child. "I'm afraid of that man. Each time I went in he said, 'All right, sonny, I'll tend to you in a minute!'"

Trying Out the Tune.

MRS. KICKER: This song ad says, "Try this on your piano." I wonder if it's worth while? Kicker: Get the neighbors to try it on theirs first. If it does their piano any good we'll see if it can cure ours.

His Apology.

THE young son of the family, who had been out to luncheon at a little friend's house, was asked by his mother on his return whether he had been a good boy. He hesitated a moment, then answered, "Yes."

"You don't seem to be very sure about the matter," said his mother. "What did you do?"

"Oh, I just spilled my chop in my lap," he replied. "Did you apologize to Mrs. Brown?"

"Yes," he nodded. "Tell mother what you said when you apologized."

"Oh," came the quick response, "I said, 'Excuse me, but that's what always happens to tough meat!'"

Up to Date.

HAVE you read the new football rules? "No, I haven't. I suppose they permit the use of hand grenades and asphyxiating gases."

An automobile can't climb, but there are families that can't climb without one.
